Millions Squandered On A 'Cost Plus' Loading Depot For War Department

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 6.—Evidence of appalling waste of money by the war department of the army has been submitted to the subcommittee investigating ordnance in connection with the construction of a loading plant at Fort Delaware, where the government has expended fourteen million dollars, where no shells were ever loaded.

May 22, 1913, the ordnance department gave a cost-plus contract for this plant to the Martin Rockwell Corporation.

The estimated cost of the plant, as stated in the contract, was to be from $15 million dollars to $25 million dollars. According to testimony, the plant, not yet completed, has cost $4 million dollars.

Major Claire Foster, construction division, United States army, cites some of the salaries paid by the loading company and by the Ley company, whose employees were all transferred to the loading company's payroll. The first manager for the loading company, he says, was a good man, but he became so dissatisfied that he quit. The company then employed a man "fitted for the job neither by experience nor temperament. His salary was increased June 1 from $2,500 to $7,500.

Increased Salaries of Officials. The first manager of the loading company was paid $10,000, but May 1 was increased to $15,000. The "second in command," a lawyer and a former bond salesman, at first drew $12,000, he was increased to $15,000. The treasurer, employed at $4,500, was increased to $5,000.

The assistant treasurer, who had been working for $1,500, came to work for $2,000, and was increased to $2,500. The chief engineer, whom Maj. Foster declares to have been incompetent, was paid $1,500.

Board Will Inquire Into the Cases of Deserving Convicts

Austin, Tex., Sept. 6.—Friendless, but deserving convicts are to have an opportunity next week to plead their cases and present their claims for executive clemency to the board of pardons advisers, Judges Fritz Smith and W. M. Kinkaid. These officials left here today on one of their periodic visits to the prison farms and the Huntsville penitentiary.

Quite a number of old timers in the penitentiary have made excellent records, but they have no one to intercede in their behalf.

The board will make a personal investigation of each individual case and will then make a report to the governor, who has the power to pardon.

The assistant treasurer, who had been working for $1,500, came to work for $2,000, and was increased to $2,500. The chief engineer, whom Maj. Foster declares to have been incompetent, was paid $1,500.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE DARK STAR"—ALHAMBRA. "The Dark Star," Robert W. Chambers' great dramatic story, is to receive its last showing at the Alhambra today.

This big special feature is presented with beautiful Marion Davies in the leading role, and is a thrilling production in every sense of the word. The play contains mystery, suspense, intrigue and daring and keeps the interest at fever heat during the entire time of showing. The novel when it appeared in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, was very popular and each installment was eagerly awaited. The play as it has been screened has made an excellent one and is well worth while. Tomorrow the Alhambra will present a play that is heralded as the most thrilling and red-blooded production since the war.

This play is "When Beantown Comes Back" from the novel by Charles Neville Buck. One of the biggest fight scenes ever shown in a motion picture is shown in this thriller. It is a battle royal between fifty men and takes place in the mountains of Kentucky and is between a gang of moonshiners.

"THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS." Today is positively the last day to see Harold Bell Wright's tenured picture, "The Shepherd of the Hills." This picture has played to packed and enthusiastic audiences ever since last

Landlord Says Newly Weds Are Not Desirable

Declares Them a Nuisance and Bars Them With Dogs and Babies.

Mr. and Mrs. Newlwyed now find untrue the old saying about the whole world loving a lover. Not only are they not loved, but actually barred in the class of apartment nuisances, along with children, dogs and birds.

The new wrinkle in apartment restrictions—barring Mr. and Mrs. Newlwyed from better apartments—appeared in this way:

FOUR beautiful apartments, fine location, price reasonable in right parties, newlwyeds, ex. Nifty, no dogs or birds; must have character references.

"I count them newlwyeds until they've been married about five years," he said. "It takes that long to keep house. There are exceptions to the rule, but the average newlwyed ruins an apartment in a short time."

Recalling the war in which a newlwyed housewife harms an apartment, the owner included failing to unsway from the grocery store, failure to tear the paper off of cans, driving nails into the wall, and so on.

Requiring five years' married life, yet no children, might be asking a good deal at exorbitant prices.

"It may be hard, but that is my rule," he said. "I want the early life of his own little daughter."

Sunday and no doubt the Greek theater will be crowded today with those who have not yet availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing this great picture at the Greek theater today.
